Mailer.cfc 1.5, the email abstraction component that makes sending email from components (and switching to test email for development) easy is in release candidate stage.

This is a much simpler component set than DataMgr, so I don't expect to have the kind of trouble getting it out of release candidate that I have had with DataMgr.

Here are the only changes from beta:

- Made isEmail() method public
- Switch order of cfmailpart tags (Here's why)

Mailer.cfc is free and open source (and includes documentation). The Mailer.cfc page also has links to other blog entries about using Mailer.cfc.
